

Why join the JSEAC?

- You'll have an opportunity to participate in a group that advises and provides guidance to our school district to help kids with disabilities
- You can share what you've learned since your child began his/her education
- You can collaborate with school professionals in the district
- You will feel good about making a contribution to the community
- You will learn information and skills that may help you work more effectively with our school district
- You will meet others with similar goals, both parents and school professionals
- You will build positive relationships with others
- You will become more knowledgeable about special education
- By sharing your unique perspective and insight as a parent, you can help Johnston work more effectively with families and improve outcomes for children

Our Mission

JSEAC is the bridge between Johnston students with special learning needs and the district, the town, and the community as a whole. Working together to move the district forward, we are parents, teachers, staff, administrators and community members, who have made a commitment to help all Johnston students with special needs.

We share resources, evaluate existing systems, identify areas of concern in programs, practices and services, provide up-to-date information to parents, and advise groups at the district and town level. A direct link between students, parents and educators, the Johnston Special Education Advisory Committee collaborates with each population to create goals, make recommendations, and provide support to the district for the improvement of our special education services.

JSEAC
Johnston Special Education Advisory Committee

Email us at:
jseac@johnstonschools.org

Building a brighter future for Johnston students with special needs

JSEAC
Johnston Special Education Advisory Committee

